>> Dear City Council Planning Deputies:
>>
>> The Department of City Planning is ready to unveil our concepts for the new Zoning Code! The public is invited to come to any one of our 7 open house public forums for an up-close look. To help get people acquainted, an overview presentation will be given near the beginning and a repeat around the midpoint. There will be information stations where people can get the details, ask questions, and tell us what they think.
>>
>> We greatly appreciate your support of re:code LA! You can help by circulating the attached flyer to your contacts and including a notice about the public forums in your newsletter if you have one. Also, please encourage everyone to visit us at recode.la to learn more about the project and sign up for email updates.
